FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Pueblo, Colorado - The Pueblo Bulls are excited to announce a new partnership with The Gutter House. The Gutter House will be the official home of the Pueblo Bulls Podcast "Around the Horns" every Tuesday starting on September 7th at 6:30 PM. Season Ticket holders, Sponsors, Bulls fans, and the Pueblo Community will be able to attend the live showing of "Around the Horns" podcast at The Gutter House every Tuesday during the season.

The Gutter House is a premier venue located in Pueblo West, creating a better way to social. The Gutter House provides various entertainment, crafting a better way to eat and drink through their signature food dishes and drinks, and a better way to play through an abundance of games: mini-golf, bowling, ax throwing, and corn hole.

"We are very thrilled to partner with The Gutter House and have them be the official home of our team podcast "Around the Horns." The Gutter House is a great venue where our fans will hear from Bulls players and staff in season. Our fans will have a great night out with family enjoying fun games, with great food and drink in a family fun environment," said David Nelson, General Manager of the Bulls.

The Pueblo Community will have the opportunity to come out every Tuesday and listen to the "Around the Horns" podcast hosted by Trysten Garcia and Mario Gernazio where they can learn all things Pueblo Bulls. Bulls players and staff will discuss all things Bulls, including past weekend games, upcoming games, events happening with the Bulls. The public will meet Bulls players in person.

Those who are interested in becoming partners for the team's third season, please visit pueblobullshockey.com/sponsors to see all opportunities available.
