HOCKEY CLUB

Pueblo, COLO. -The Pueblo Bulls are excited to announce 2001-born Bulls Forward, Alex Danis, will be playing this upcoming season with the Wenatchee Wild of the BCHL (British Columbia Hockey League) Tier II.

The Calgary, Alberta native joined the Bulls this past season after starting the year playing in the Tier II MJHL (Manitoba Junior Hockey League). Danis was 3rd in the MJHL in points at the time of his departure to, Pueblo, with 14 points in 9 games. Danis was an elite add for the Bulls at the end of the season, immediately showing his skills and hockey sense, putting up 4 goals and 1 assist in 3 regular season games. When it came to playoffs Danis didn't slow down finishing second on the Bulls in points with 3 goals and 3 assists in 5 games.

"Alex was an unbelievable add for us at the end of the season," said Bulls Assistant Coach Austin Hoff. "He is an incredibly skilled hockey player with tremendous hockey sense and work ethic. Alex is going to a team in the Wenatchee Wild that have moved countless numbers of players on to NCAA DIV 1 and Professional hockey. He will be a great pick up for the Wild and will help continue their success in moving players on to the highest levels of hockey!"

"Joining the Bulls organization for the short period at the end of last season was a memorable experience that I'll always cherish," said Danis. "I was welcomed immediately from the team, coaching staff and billets. I will always be thankful to Pueblo's organization. If you're a player looking to advance to the next level, the Pueblo Bulls is the team to play for. The coaching staff and the organization have every available resource to successfully move players on. Thank you, Bulls!! Go Bulls!"

"The Bulls organization is so excited to watch Alex's progression as a hockey player and individual! We want to thank Alex for his time as a Bull and for giving his best effort every day on and off the ice. The Bulls and Pueblo wish Alex the best of luck moving into his future!" added Hoff.
